

How to review video in TruVision Navigator 9.0

updated: 6/13/22

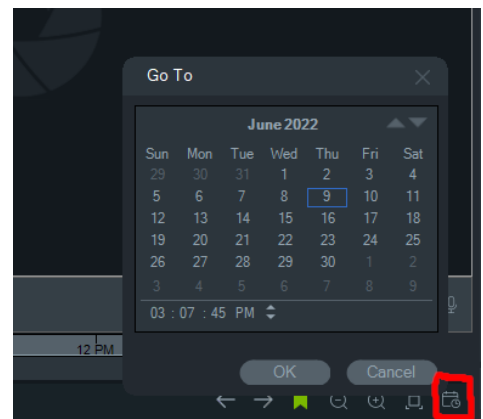

For assistance with the instructions in this document, please contact Cottage Watchman at the phone number listed below. These instructions work with TruVision Navigator 9.0. Earlier versions of TruVision Navigator will be similar, but some instructions will not be the same.

These are the steps to recover video:

1. Start TruVision Navigator 9.0
2. Load the camera with video you wish to review.
 - a. Make sure the bottom information bar on the camera is green (pictured here). This means the camera is selected.
 - b. If the bottom bar is not green, simply click on the camera and it will turn green.

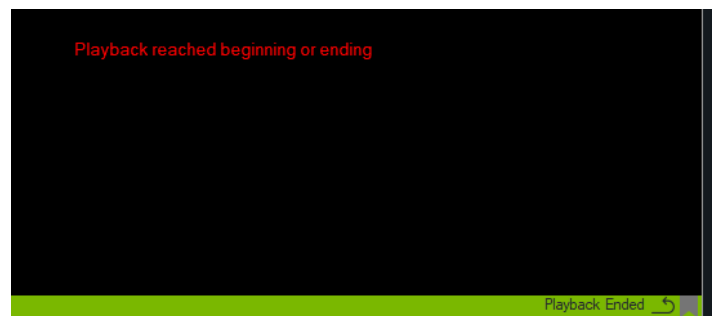

3. Click on the 'Calendar' icon in the bottom right corner.
 - a. Select the Month, Day, Year, and Time of the event you wish to playback.
 - b. Click 'OK' and the active camera will attempt to load the specified time/date.

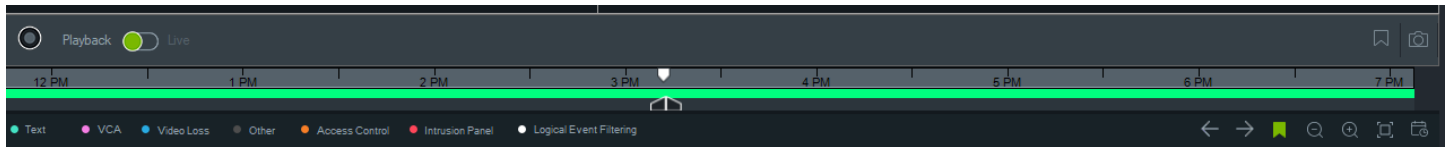

4. Verify the correct time has loaded.
 - a. Check the video info bars. Top right will show the playback time displayed. Bottom right will have the word 'Playback' displayed, confirming you are in playback mode.

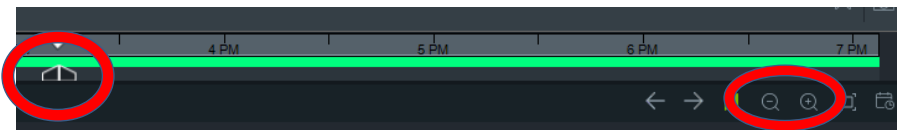

NOTE: if this message appears (see right image), you are searching too far back, there is no longer any recording this far back in time. Go to step 3, choose a different time and try again.

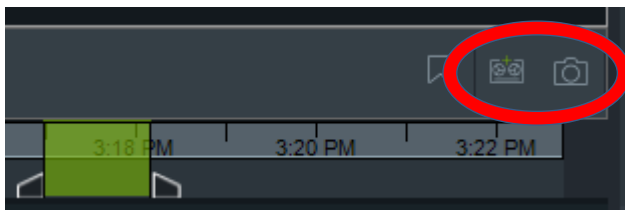

5. Select video clip (or photo) you wish to save and put the selection into the Collector:
 - a. Using the Play/Pause & Fast Forward/Rewind controls at the bottom left, find the entire time, start to finish, of the clip you want to save. You can “zoom in” or “zoom out” of the video using the Magnifying glasses with the “+” and “-” signs, respectively.

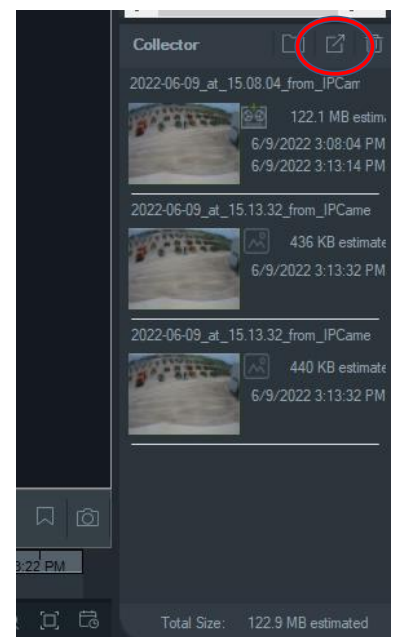

- b. Select the video using the two black ‘bookends’ by dragging the left one to the left, and right one to the right, to highlight the video clip desired to be saved (see images this page).

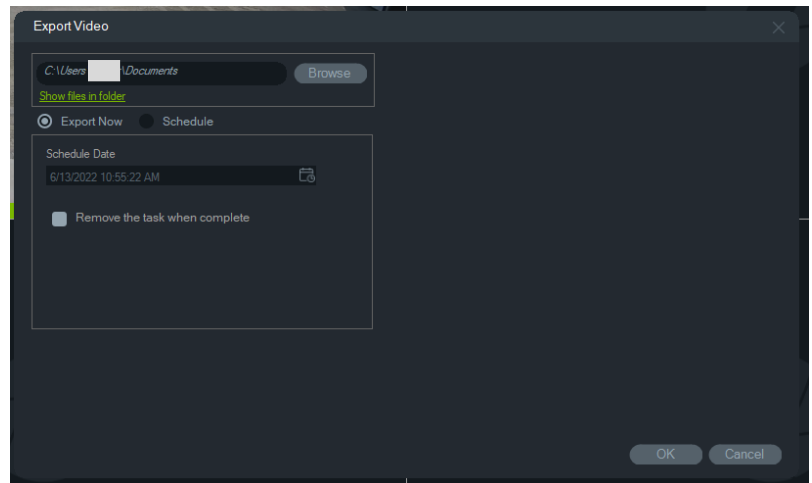

- c. Just above and to the right of the timeline, click either the ‘Save video clip in the Collector’ or “Save snapshot in Collector” buttons (hover your mouse over the icons to see their description).

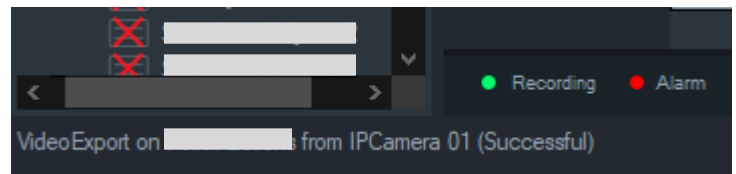

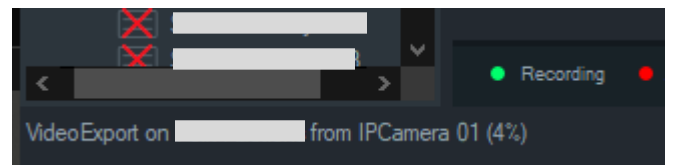

6. Once all clips and snapshots you want to save are in the collector, click the “Export All” button (see right). The Export Video window will open.

7. In the Export Video window, if you want to change the save location, click "Browse", and navigate as you would any other document. Once you have selected the location, return to this screen and click "OK".

8. Verify the Export is a success.
 - a. Observe the lower left section of the screen, where it says it is exporting the video. It will increase in percentage until it reaches 100%.
 - b. Once it reaches 100%, if the file(s) save correctly, it will follow up with the "(Successful)" notification. Your files have been saved successfully!

9. NOTE: If you are sharing these video clips and snapshot images, once you have exported them you must copy all video and image files, AND the file "TruNavPlayer.exe" to the storage device you are sharing.
